

Did You Notice? Website and Virtual Reality Application

Privacy Terms and Conditions

Proper Use of This Website and Application

You may use the website and application only in ways consistent with the law. You are responsible for any and all activity that occurs through your use of the website and application.

General Privacy Statement

OCALI collects information which you provide personally, such as through a link or form to access trainings, resources, and/or other offerings, and/or through personal communications. OCALI will use personally-provided data only for the purpose for which you have provided it, as stated in the applicable webpage, application screen, or other medium of communication. We use appropriate measures to ensure a level of security appropriate to the risk involved and have implemented measures designed to protect your information from unauthorized access, disclosure, use, and modification. OCALI will not share or distribute a user's identity and/or contact information with outside or third-party entities unless user grants OCALI permission to do so.

Analytics

OCALI occasionally uses analytics tools to help measure traffic and usage trends for its websites and offerings. This information will be collected anonymously. It reports trends in the aggregate without identifying individual visitors and/or users.

Specific to the Did You Notice? Virtual Reality Application, technical data (i.e., data about a device) and data concerning use of Did You Notice?, such as when and how often a user is in the experience will be collected in the aggregate form only. This information will be collected to improve the functionality of the application and to create statistics contributing to the improvement of Did You Notice?. Information collected will be retained for as long as necessary for operational needs or to comply with any statutory, regulatory, or legal obligations. The application does not collect, store, or observe any personal identifiable information.

Public Records Disclaimer

Visitors and/or users should be aware that, subject to certain statutory exceptions, most documents and records maintained by OCALI, including but not limited to electronic data, are public records under Ohio law. Therefore, information submitted may be subject to disclosure pursuant to a public records request.

Children's Privacy Statement

Websites and offerings developed or maintained by OCALI are not intended for children under the age of 13. OCALI does not knowingly or willingly collect any personal information from a child under age 13. If OCALI becomes aware that it has inadvertently received personally identifiable information from a user under the age of 13, such information will be deleted. Children's Online Privacy and Protection Act of 1998, 15 USC 6501 et seq. (2000)

Disclaimer

Any access to this website and application is voluntary. OCALI will regard all access as voluntary and at the sole risk of the user. Any information contained on the website and application is provided on an “as is” basis. OCALI makes no representations or warranties with respect to this website and application or their content. The information contained on the website and application is intended for general user understanding and education only.

Limitations of Liability

Under no circumstances, including, but not limited to negligence, will OCALI be liable to any user or third party for any direct, special, incidental, or consequential damages or expense, including attorney's fees that result from the use or inability to use the materials on OCALI websites and/or offerings.

OCALI assumes no liability or loss for a user's failure to adhere to these terms and conditions.

Contact Us

Please direct any questions about the terms and conditions by email to support@didyounotice.org. Additionally, please direct inquiries regarding specific user data by email to support@didyounotice.org. Although we do not collect identifying information, we recognize that users may request individual usage data storage and/or removal and will respond accordingly to each inquiry.
